the PERFECT DAY

Experts help ease the stress of planning your dream wedding

Remember that this is your party, try not to focus on what you believe friends or family may expect from your wedding. Dream it for yourselves — then chase after it.

JOSHUA HENDIN, TREELINE CATERING

Set the Stage

Many brides make the mistake of creating beautiful invitations themselves, only to find out that there is no envelope available for the size or shape they have created. When designing invitations, be creative, but be consistent in carrying a theme or colour through to the end. When putting your budget together, include the other paper needs and postage costs as these items can cost almost as much as the invitations. ROZANNE HOMSY, OAKVILLE PAPER BOUTIQUE

The couple needs to reflect on the theme they are trying to convey. Sometimes it helps to use such things as their invitations, cake selection, fabric and dress detail or the venue to guide this process, as well as having them look at their lifestyle and history of their relationship. SUSAN BOBER, BLOSSOMS FLOWER SHOP
